become aware of their humans. This means machine must learn to ...rch for achieving productive teaming can be split into four clusters: ...d trust awareness.

...e of their human partners and become able to understand and

...ware of cognitive processes and decision making processes of their

...f goals they should achieve together with their human partners and

...ot human's individual need for trust in them. This starts from safety b...